- Bell 222, 230 and 430 series.
- Bell 505 series.
- Messerschmitt-Boelkow-Blohm BO 105 series.
- Robinson R44 and R66 series.

- Accredited with the insurance of 20th Century Fox and the Endemol Group as camera, stunt and sling pilot.
- FAA certified.

The core business of Cashmere Aviation centers around 4 competencies, all of which are undertaken in a professional and safe manner and are audited annually by Litson & Associates and Global Aviation Consultants. These competencies include:

- Aerial Filming.
- Charter Operations.
- Firefighting.
- Sling Work & Medium Lifting.

AERIAL FILMING

The majority of the work undertaken is done for TV adverts, sporting events and movies using state of the art Cineflex equipped machines. The highlight of Warren's career to date was being involved in the provisioning of aerial filming services for the FIFA world cup held in South Africa in 2010. During this time approximately 200 hours were flown by Warren.

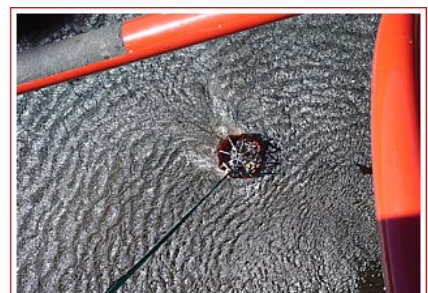

CHARTER OPERATIONS

Charter work is done in association with a number of specialist organisations and companies within the helicopter industry working strictly in accordance with their AOC's for both local and international clients. Work has taken Warren around South Africa as well as into Botswana, Mozambique, Namibia, and Zimbabwe.

FIREFIGHTING

Although limited in the number of hours flown, this technically demanding skill is one which Warren endeavours to keep current and is a standby pilot for the national Working on Fire programme in South Africa.

SLING WORK & MEDIUM LIFTING

The majority of work undertaken is for local construction companies doing medium lifts in both urban and remote settings. TV work includes flying platforms for overseas productions such as FearFactor and local productions such as MasterChef SA. Flying banners also forms part of Warren's lifting work.
